

TradingEducation.com, LLC Launches TraderNews.com

Free news website eliminates the hype to deliver the precise news stories and market moving events that are vital to today's stock, futures and Forex traders.

Wesley Chapel, FL, November 1, 2007 – TradingEducation.com, LLC today announced the launch of TraderNews.com, a member of the TraderWeb.com network of affiliated websites offering education, chat, blogs, quotes, news, and more.

TraderNews.com provides economic news and market updates covering the latest economic reports and statistics as well as comments from key officials and other important developments that have a market-moving impact. Traders can target U.S., European or Asian news and can get reports on the latest events behind the changes in overall market values or in individual public company share prices. The site automatically refreshes the latest news about stocks, commodities, currencies, futures or options in both domestic and global markets.

"In today's global marketplace, having access to the latest news is often critical to trading success, and TraderNews.com offers a fully integrated news tracking and aggregation system designed for the unique needs of stock, futures and Forex traders," stated Darrell Jobman, Editor-In-Chief, TradingEducation.com LLC. "Our goal is to support traders everywhere, keep them informed and save them valuable time."

About TradingEducation.com, LLC

Formed in September 2005, TradingEducation.com, LLC has developed a suite of educational Web sites dedicated to helping traders at all levels gain meaningful knowledge about stocks, exchange-traded funds, commodities, currencies, futures and options so they can make better trading decisions and avoid costly mistakes.

All information on TradingEducation.com, LLC websites is free to the public, with operational initiatives solely supported by advertisers. TradingEducation.com is sincere in its efforts to help new traders learn the basics of trading and experienced traders learn new ideas and strategies that they can apply in their trading approach.

For more information, please visit www.tradernews.com.

###

Media Contacts

Darla D. Tuttle

813.973.3456

Darla@TradingEducation.com

Mitch Ackles

305.551.2453

mitch@TradingEducation.com